Section III: Program or Event Evaluation

Duplicate or download this evaluation form as a self-study on a just-completed program, project or event. This exercise is offered as a tool to help you identify ideas and develop strategies to facilitate successful – and less stressful – program and event management.

Same time, next year? Maybe, maybe not. K-State Research and Extension programs, projects and/or events may be seasonal, semi-annual, annual or, like recent Centennial celebrations, once-in-a-lifetime opportunities. If, as some might say “hindsight is 20-20,” what would you – or could you – do differently to improve the program, project or event?

Name of event: _____

Site: _____ Date: _____ Time: _____

Person responsible: _____

Partners: _____

Key objective(s) or long-term intended outcomes: _____

Do you feel that you met your objective and/or moved toward your long-term intended outcomes?

If yes, why?

If no, why not?

Target audience: _____ Actual attendance: _____

What do you feel was the most successful part of this program or event?

What do you feel was the least successful aspect of this program or event?

If offering the program or event again, what would you do differently?

Have you written your thank-you notes?
